

Dr. Jordan – Teaching Writing to Learners with Special Needs – Transcript

Hi, my name is LuAnn Jordan and I'm the instructor for Teaching Writing to learners with Special Needs. Welcome to our course. I've taught this course for quite some time and I think it is important that people are able to express themselves and writing is one way of our most powerful ways of expressing ourselves. I really enjoy teaching this course, and I hope you are really going to enjoy this course, too. We're going to cover a number of topics during this semester so click around and start to get comfortable. I'll be leaving you messages and information as we go along and ways for you to follow up with me as well. So, I hope you're going to have a great semester in this course. Welcome again.

Phone ringing

Excuse me, just one second.

Hello, this is LuAnn Jordan at UNC-Charlotte. Hi, yes, yes I'll hold. Yes, sir, hello. They're fine, I hope yours are fine too.

Yes, yes that's right. Effect with an "e" is the noun, affect with the "a" if the verb. "A" is for the action.

Oh, that's fine; oh yes, in speech like that you want to be right.

Okay. Take care; you have a good day, too. Bye bye.

You never know when you're gonna have to know.

Welcome to the class.
