

Dr. Baxter – Diagnostic Assessment – Transcript

Hello. My name is Dr. Janet Baxter and I teach Special Education 5173.

Welcome to this course and I hope that we will become active partners together as we work through the different activities in this course.

My goal in this course is to have you be an active participant in the assessment process of children with special needs. And also to make ethical and best practice decisions about the children that we serve.

We will be covering such topics as response to intervention, adaptive behavior assessment, social emotional behavior assessment, progress monitoring, standardized measures and non-standardized measures, as well as other very timely topics.

Take some time to click through this course and become familiar with all the different icons that are available. I am looking very forward to working with you this semester.
