

Evelyn Wingate - Transcript

Hi, I'm Evelyn Wingate, a Senior Program Manager in UNC Charlotte's Office of Distance Education.

From the point of inquiry every step of the way through to program completion, our office serves as the distance education students' primary link to the main campus. We strive to make sure there is nothing distant about distance education at UNC-Charlotte. Student services available to on campus students are also available to distance education students. Among those services is access to UNC-Charlotte's Atkins Library and its wealth of electronic information through the library's databases. You are eligible for additional services like having library information delivered to your home or desktop.

A complete listing of the Office of Distance Education programs and services is available at: www.distanceed.uncc.edu.
