Individual Evaluation of Team Members
Spring 2008

Evaluate each person in the group you are member of for their contributions to your group throughout the semester. Use the following questions as a guide for the evaluations.

Member's name (print): _____

1. Based on your opinion of what constitutes a reasonable effort to participate in the organization and operation of your group throughout the semester, what grade would you give this person? Please use a number rather than a letter.

Use a 0 (low) to 10 (high) scale.

“Illuminating” remarks.

Use the following questions to help justify the grade you give to this person.

2. Did the group member make reasonable efforts to attend meetings outside of class time, to gather information essential to the project, and provide rational input to the overall process?

_____ very little help to the team throughout the semester _____ made it to most of, but not all, the meetings _____ always there _____ contributed more than anyone else in the group

3. Did the group member volunteer to take on more work at times when others were busy?

_____ never _____ once or twice _____ always ready to pitch in and do more

4. Would you have this person on your team again with another project?

_____ No
_____ He/she was okay
_____ Gladly, anytime

5. What was the most significant problem your team encountered throughout the entire project (e.g., communication, schedule conflicts, personality clashes)?

6. Using the same scale as in number 1 above, how would you rate your own contribution to the success of the project this semester?
